THE STORY SO FAR

21st century Neo-Tokyo stands on Tokyo's ashes, a city destroyed by a child — the psychic colossus Akira. Akira has been kept in cryogenic hibernation since the holocaust, but other survivors of the secret military program, formidable psychics aging in children's bodies, know that one day Akira will awaken. Enter Tetsuo and Kaneda, members of a youth motorcycle gang. A violent accident sets off dormant psychokinetic abilities within the angry, unstable Tetsuo, who soon captures the psychic killing spree against friend and foe, turning Kaneda from blood-brother to mortal enemy. The mysterious Colonel, leader of "The Project," uses a super-drug to bring Tetsuo under his thrall, but Tetsuo soon grows beyond the control of the Colonel and his psychics — Takashi, Masaru, and Kiyoko — and Tetsuo's discovery of Akira's existence foments a desire to confront the super-being.

Kaneda allies with the beautiful Kei — herself a powerful medium — and her partner Ryu, members of an anti-Project resistance group. They infiltrate the Akira facility and find Tetsuo in combat with the Colonel's security forces. Tetsuo's psychic wars releases Akira, who emerges from his frozen prison. Tetsuo helps the bewildered child escape, but the frantic Colonel orders the military satellite laser SOL to fire on them. Tetsuo's arm is shredded, and the two psychics become separated in the mayhem. Kaneda and Kei find Akira and take him to safety.

The streets of Neo-Tokyo are quarantined by military patrols and Cerebrak robot sentries. Kaneda, Kei, and Chiyoko — a member of the resistance — are betrayed by the resistance leader, Nezu, who takes Akira to use as a weapon against the government. Chiyoko fights their way free, and they recapture Akira, but the Colonel's forces corner them, and Akira reunites with his old friends Masaru, Kiyoko, and Takashi, trying to kill Akira rather than lose him. Nezu shoots Takashi, whose death triggers Akira's power. After a cataclysmic psychic wave rips through Neo-Tokyo, Tetsuo appears and joins Akira.

The Great Tokyo Empire rises, crazed followers of Akira under the malefic control of Tetsuo, who plans to neutralize the child psychics and Lady Miyako, another Project survivor whose temple is a haven for refugees. Tetsuo gives the lethal super-drug to "volunteers." A few survive and become Tetsuo's psychic shock troops, who apprehend and execute a group of military intelligence agents. One operative, Yamada, evades capture.

Kei, Chiyoko, and Ryu, along with the incapacitated Masaru and Kiyoko, have survived Akira's fury, but Kaneda is assumed dead. Chiyoko and Kei enlist the aid of Miyako, who gives them the super-drug for Nezu and Kiyoko and instructs they be brought to her. Meanwhile, Ryu encounters Yamada and offers to help the agent. With no protection, Masaru and Kiyoko are kidnapped by Empire spies. Kei and Chiyoko catch up to them and free Masaru, but Kiyoko's captors escape. Kei sets off with Masaru while Chiyoko goes after Kiyoko.

For amusement, Tetsuo gives the drug to young women. All die but one, Kaori, who pains the drug. She becomes Tetsuo's companion and Akira's enemy. Tetsuo feels Akira manipulating his thoughts, and when he confronts the child, Akira draws Tetsuo into the chaotic maelstrom of his mind. Tetsuo withdraws in terror, but he eventually recovers and seeks out Miyako, who tells him of the Project and how the super-drug actually inhibits his development. Without the drug, he might become a match for Akira, which Miyako feels secretly might be the only way to control the super-child.

Chiyoko recaptures Kiyoko but is trapped and seriously injured. The two are rescued by the Colonel and taken to a still-intact lab. The Colonel places Kiyoko inside a Cerebaker and begins the arduous journey to Miyako's temple. He takes along a targeting device for the SOL laser.

Tetsuo begins his agonizing withdrawal. His lieutenant organizes an assault on Miyako's temple. Many innocents die, but the attack is finally repelled by the psychic skills of the temple's priests. Tetsuo appears to Ryu and Yamada, telling them of the arrival of the American fleet. Yamada tries to shoot Tetsuo, who easily stops him and then banishes. As the Colonel nears the Temple, the Empire again attacks; Cerebrak, the Colonel prepares to fire SOL. Kei, Masaru, Miyako, and her monks retreat to the Temple citadel, but the agonized Tetsuo appears, demanding drugs. As SOL's superlaser ignites, Tetsuo rises howling into the air, unleashing his power and tossing wrecked skyscrapers about like toys. But Tetsuo goes on, transcending time and space, reliving his birth, and eventually arriving at...Akira. Tetsuo falls to his knees before his master.

Kaneda, battered and bruised but still breathing, emerges from the wasteland and reunites with Kei and his old friend Kaisuke of Miyako's temple. Moments later, the wounded Colonel arrives with Kiyoko, and Miyako ushers them and Kei inside. Kiyoko and the Colonel are given aid, but the Colonel later tells Kei that he intends to complete his mission; to use SOL to destroy Tetsuo and Akira. Kei, concerned for Chiyoko, agrees to accompany him, and they set out in secret for the Colonel's facility.

Kaisuke leads Kaneda through the barter town grown around the temple to Kaneda's old adversary Joker, who has set up a salvage operation. Miyako summons Kaneda and implores him to find Kei. Kaneda and Kaisuke "borrow" Joker's rebuilt motorcycles and head off. Empire soldiers, having tracked Kei and the Colonel, storm the facility. Kei is attacked by an Empire psychic and is injured before the Colonel can shoot her attacker. Kaneda and Kaisuke, drawn by a psychic projection of Kei, arrive and head up the operation to deliver Kei and Chiyoko to Miyako's temple.

As the U.S. task force prepares for action, scientists aboard the command vessel frantically study the phenomena surrounding the emergence of "Juvenile A" — a.k.a. Akira. A psychically induced tsunami hammers the ship, and Tetsuo materializes in the scientists' midst. He chats with them briefly before further demonstrating his power, critically injuring one of the scientists, and then vanishes.

Yamada retrieves an airdrop of a bio-chem weapon delivery system intended to destroy Akira — and anyone else nobody enough to get in the way. Ryu tries to stop Yamada but is beaten down. Tetsuo returns to Akira's stronghold, where his side convinces him to rally the Empire's subjects, whose fervor wanes in the face of Miyako's more benign leadership. Gathered into the Olympic Stadium, the Empire citizenry witness a demonstration of power culminating with Tetsuo tearing an immense crater in the moon! The thrilled go wild, but the effects of this wanton destruction cause massive tidal waves that deluge the city. With Tetsuo becoming a potentially greater threat than Akira, Miyako decides to fight him by using Kei as a focal point for the combined powers of her allied psychics. To protect Kei, Kaneda plans to kill Tetsuo first, enlisting his old gang buddies. Joker has succeeded in repairing a military flying platform, and from his cache of salvaged weapons, he produces a military laser rifle for Kaneda to use on Tetsuo.

A special Akira assassination squad links up with Yamada, and the Americans breach SOL's security to take control of the weapon. A Project scientist impedes the system takeover, giving the Colonel time to destroy Tetsuo before SOL razes Neo-Tokyo. The Colonel finds Tetsuo – his body beginning to mutate horribly from the Power — but Tetsuo disappears before the Colonel can strike. Tetsuo attacks the U.S. Fleet, wreaking incredible destruction, including the triggering of nuclear weapons. As Tetsuo rages on the deck of the command carrier, Kei appears and aids Miyako in striking Tetsuo with an errant missile. Tetsuo survives and counter-attacks, but Kei disappears, and Tetsuo follows suit.

And so, as forces converge, the stage is set for the final confrontation and, perhaps, for mankind's final reckoning...

IN A DEVASTATED 21ST CENTURY

Neo-Tokyo, the armed might of Earth is massed against the godlike powers of two psychic titans, the mute child Akira and the deranged youth Tetsuo. While Akira has unintentionally destroyed the city twice before, Tetsuo has ravaged the surface of the Moon for his sheer amusement, and his madness grows as his abilities expand. But he is gradually losing control of the limitless energies that rage within him, mutating Tetsuo into a horror beyond imagination, and as all forces converge for a final confrontation, the fate of the planet lies in the hands of mere mortals...and the mind of a child

This final chapter of Katsuhiro Otomo's internationally honored graphic-novel masterpiece brings to a shattering, mind-warping conclusion the science-fiction epic that has influenced storytellers from every continent and in every medium. Akira is a one-of-a-kind work of breathtaking scope, unforgettable imagery, and singular vision.

"Woven throughout the story is a substantial amount of social criticism, political intrigue, and dark humor.... The reissuing of these volumes clearly illustrates why this epic sets the standard for other manga."
— Chris Cummins, Philadelphia City Paper
